

I am opposed to any change in the NO-Call law in Indiana. Since this law has been in effect the bothersome telemarketers have stopped calling. My phone is now free to be used for the intent with which I had it installed. That is for the use of my family , friends and people I invite to call me. Telemarketers of any kind do not fit into any of these groups.

Your responsibility is to protect our privacy, not encourage business to interrupt our private times with inane calls selling products or services we do not want. If I need their wares, I will seek them out.
